Lenita W. Salas joined LPHS as a Staff Attorney in 2025. She brings extensive experience across legal areas including intellectual property, finance, environmental and toxic tort, oil and gas, construction, pharmaceutical, data breach, DTPA, elder and employment law, and regulatory matters involving the SEC, FINRA, and FCPA.

Before LPHS, Lenita worked in eDiscovery and document review across platforms like Relativity, Everlaw, Disco, and Caspoint. Fluent in English and Spanish, she held contract attorney roles with companies such as KLDISCOVERY, Consilio, and Shell Oil Company, often leading bilingual review teams and managing investigations.

Previously, Lenita practiced at Texas-based firms Boudreaux, Leonard, Hammond & Curcio and Jones Day, handling cases involving consumer banking, DTPA, employment claims, title review, toxic torts, and bankruptcy fraud.

She is also proficient in Google Workspace and online collaboration tools, supporting her effectiveness in remote legal environments.
